

Kid McCoy's Sister Takes Stand In Mors Murder Case

Unable To State What Kid Said After Mur

DISBELIEVE MOODY

McCoy To His Sister.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Under direct examination by the prosecution, Mrs. Jennie Thomas, sister of Kid McCoy, ex-fighter, heard with the murder of Mrs. Theresa Mors, divorced wife of an antique dealer, late yesterday testified that she "was not able to state" what her brother had told her after Mrs. Mors had died with a bullet through her brain. She was a witness for the prosecution.

The records of the grand jury of August 13, which indicted McCoy, disclosed a direct question to Mrs. Thomas:

"You did not believe your brother when he told that he had killed a woman, did you?"

"Certainly not" she replied.

On a question from the defense asking whether her brother had told her that he had killed a woman, she answered negatively.

She answered the prosecution today that she was "not sure to date."

and did not remember what he saw on the night he came to her home in an intoxicated condition to make a will, to wit, the valuables, including the jewelry, Mrs. Mary Thomas wore, and threatened to "send it all."

Once during the day there flashed before the jury a handful of the jewels, which figured so prominently in the killing.

[The valuables consisted of a watch, a brooch resembling a quail with a bar pin, a heavily-set ring with precious stones, and a diamond necklace.

The collection of the prosecution contends, and according to testimony, was worn daily by Mrs. Adams and is alleged to have been taken from the body by McCoy after the woman was slain.

Mrs. Thomas testified that McCoy gave her the jewelry on the night he visited her house.

LAREDO, Tex., Dec. 12. (AP)—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of labor arrived at the American border at 30 this morning in a critical condition, suffering from bronchial infection.

The train will rush to San Antonio where Gompers is to be taken to a hotel. His physician said that his life was endangered unless the leader received prompt hospital attention. He sank very low yesterday en route from Mexico, where he had been attempting to pan American labor federation, meeting, but with remarkable vitality he rallied last night. Today is noticeably improved.

Gompers coach was taken from the Mexican train and rushed to the American side without the customs and formalities. Gompers trouble was described as unusual development complicated by occurrence of the illness some months ago. The high altitude of the Florida hills, to which

Did You Ever Stop to Think

By E. R. Waite, Secretary, Shawnee, Okla., Board of Commerce.

THAT modern business men are professional men.
THAT the old idea of letting a business run itself along the line of least resistance is gone forever.
THAT push, pep and publicity are great business getters. Without them there is no use of getting into the race for better business.
THAT the successful men of today are those who want to learn and realize they have much yet to learn, and with full confidence in themselves, forge ahead with enthusiasm to work and learn and win.
THAT in business today the rule is "the survival of the fittest" and any business that expects to survive the seas of competition must trim its sails to the winds and meet competition, and win through the principles of offering the public, through the advertising columns, quality, reasonable prices and service.
THAT some business concerns trust to luck to get business.
THAT trusting to luck is a poor way of doing business. You never heard of a business getting anywhere depending upon luck.
THAT successful business men, never trust to luck. They know what they are doing, they never guess.

HUNT'S DAILY LETTER

BY HARRY B. HUNT

WASHINGTON—Pouring oil on a fire to extinguish the flames, most folks know, would be the height of stupidity.
Yet, figuratively, that is just what the Washington police department did the other day when called to put out a verbal conflagration at the annual meeting of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.
The Daughters, it seems, came to town with the fighting spirit of their forefathers still undimmed. The fall of the gavel in the hands of Mrs. Walter Hutton, the chairman, instead of being a signal for order, was the starting gun in a battle between two hostile factions.
Both sides were all primed for the attack. In a jiffy, a barrage of charges, countercharges, accusations and recriminations was exploding on both sides.
Screams of agony and protest from the founded: shouts of defiance and challenge from the leaders. Pandemonium and hysteria reigned supreme. In the uproar the pounding gavel of the chairman and her calls for "order" and "remember we are ladies" were entirely lost.

WHEN it seemed that perhaps the bloodiest battle of the Civil War yet to be fought—was, in fact, just starting—somebody called for the police.

No Daughter will admit she did it; that would be an admission of defeat for her side. Perhaps some nearby resident or some passerby who thought nothing less than wholesale murder was going on within was responsible.

Anyway, the police were summoned.
And the first bluecoat to reach the scene—remember, this was a battle of honor between two factions of the proud and blue-blooded Daughters of the Confederacy, scions of the Old South—was E. H. Braxton, a negro patrolman!

Oil on fire, as we suggested at the start, will not extinguish the flames. But even that, it seems, would be more effective than the efforts of a negro officer to subdue Daughters of the Confederacy, particularly when their fighting blood is up.

Officer Braxton believes he should be recommended for the Distinguished Service Cross, if such a decoration is available for policemen, for "gallant and extra-hazardous services over and above the call of duty."

And if words could wound, not only Braxton but all the higherups in the Washington police department would be among the major casualties in a hospital.

MRS. MARY NORTON OF Jersey City, N. J., the first woman Democrat to be elected to Congress, shattered an old tradition of the House on her first visit there.

Although she will not take her seat until the next Congress, Mrs. Norton ran down to Washington to hear Coolidge's message on December 3, and as a member-elect exercised her privilege of sitting on the floor.

Whether wilfully or unknowingly is not revealed, but she disregarded the old rule, heretofore observed by woman members, that hats are not to be worn by members on the floor.

This rule had been carefully observed by Republican congresswomen, but Mrs. Norton's nifty bit of millinery wrecked it, probably forever.

And no male member had the nerve to protest!

THE old pork barrel rolled into Congress early in the session.

Within an hour after Coolidge's message on "economy" had been read to the joint session, Senator Fletcher of Florida tried to attach a rider to a bill providing needed quarters for the government in Washington an amendment for $38,000,000 worth of postoffices, etc.

SUCCESSFUL DRIVE
RICHMOND, Dec. 12.—Although not over the top the annual Health and Welfare League drive which started Tuesday is expected to reach the goal of $82,000 when a complete report from the county is brought in.

A thorough canvass was made of Richmond Tuesday by various teams. A good deal of money was subscribed and even more was brought in Wednesday morning. The goal, however, is still some distance away but is expected to be reached when contributions from the county are received. There were a number of teams at work in the county Tuesday and again Wednesday.

WOMEN ORGANIZED
PARIS, Ky., Dec. 12.—A Business and Professional Women's Club was organized here last night with 17 charter members. The meeting was held at the Hotel Windsor. Mrs. Hattie E. Garnett, field director of the National Federation of Business and Professional Clubs for Kentucky, assisted by Miss Nancy Carter, president of the Lexington club, and Miss Mary Turner, Miss Jessie Vancey and Mrs. Catherine Baker, of the Altus club, Lexington.

NARROW ESCAPE
PARIS, Ky., Dec. 12.—Five persons had a narrow escape from death, and three others are believed to have been injured, one seriously, in an accident in which three automobiles, figured, about 12 miles from here on the Lexington pike at 7:30 o'clock last night.

According to information available here last night, an automobile containing a negro man and three women collided with a machine driven by Allen Sears, 24 years old, a farmer of Loradale, Ky., which in turn was struck by a car in which Charles Clark, William Young, Stoddard Young and William Young, Jr., were riding. The latter four were thrown from their machine by the impact, as was Harold Mullen, 12 years old, who was riding in Sears' car. All escaped without serious injury.

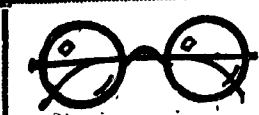

WATER DOES DAMAGE
PINEVILLE, Dec. 12.—Considerable damage to property was occasioned by the high water which followed the heavy rains of the latter part of last week and Sunday and Monday of this week. Several families in the Straight Creek neighborhood were forced to leave their homes and damage to furnishings and homes in other parts of the county were reported.

Water backed up into many basements in the lower sections of Pineville and put out the furnace fires and did other damage. Colder weather Tuesday and a cessation of rain caused the water to begin dropping and danger of a flood of the proportions of that of 117 apartment was out of its banks and rising threateningly Monday night. It reached its crest sometime during the night and has started to fall.

PENNIES HELP TO ERADICATE T. B.

LOUISVILLE, Dec. 12.—(Special)—The symptoms, treatment and cure of Tuberculosis are subject to which the Kentucky Tuberculosis Association is devoting considerable attention in its campaign against the dread disease which it conducts every day in the year. This campaign is made possible through the annual sale of Christmas seals which are now being sold in every community in Kentucky under the auspices of the State Association and the various women's organizations.

According to the state association, symptoms of tuberculosis are readily distinguishable and certain of these are indications of active lung disease, the pulmonary form of the disease being the most prevalent. These symptoms include a cough which persists for several weeks, hoarseness, fever, rapid pulse, chills, night sweats, loss of strength, weight and appetite, frequent attacks of indigestion and spitting of blood. As soon as one of these symptoms appears, the patient should call in a physician and go to the nearest clinic without delay.

Tuberculosis is a prevalent, a curable disease. It can be cured if it is taken in time. The earlier the diagnosis, the better the chance for cure. The cure consists of the restoration and healing of the tissues destroyed by the tubercle bacillus. This is brought about by the patient being kept at rest in the fresh air and by feeding him wholesome and nourishing food. If tuberculosis is discovered in time, the combination of fresh air, rest, good food, together with a correct mental attitude, all under proper supervision, will cure the disease.

Such popularity must be deserved

To convert critics into enthusiasts, whether for a new school of music or for a cigarette, requires something more than luck. There's sound reason for every big swing in popular taste. So, to account for Chesterfield's swift rise, look to the cigarette itself, its tobaccos, its blending—in short, its taste. This one thing alone—its decidedly better taste—explains why thousands of smokers are changing from other cigarettes to Chesterfield.

Timely Hints To Puzzled Shoppers
There is a fascination about speed. The task which is addition to being well done is quickly done best pleases the worker. Sometimes it seems surprising that the housewife does not more fully recognize the fascination of doing work quickly. It puts zest into the tasks. There is a genuine pride one may well feel in accomplishment, and the more one can do, the greater the satisfaction. If one gets the housework, the cleaning, the sewing done quickly and so is able to enjoy keeping up one's music, seeing one's friends, or spending the time in a chosen recreation of amusement, studying some special art or line of work, with the assurance that important duties are not neglected, the joy in each is doubled. Speed may mean harder work, but it also means shorter work and more spare time.
Cure for Hiccoughs—Sit erect and inflate the lungs fully. Then, retaining the breath, bend forward slowly until the chest meets the knees. After slowly rising again to the erect position, slowly exhale the breath. Repeat this process a second time, and the nerves will be found to have received an access of energy that will enable them to perform their natural functions.

To Ventilate a room—Place a pitcher of cold water on a table in your room and it will absorb all the gases with which the room is filled from respiration or those eating or sleeping in the apartment. Very few realize how important such purification is for the health of the family, or indeed, understand or realize that there can be any impurity in the rooms; yet in a few hours a pitcher or pail of cold water—the colder the more effective will make the air of a room pure, but the water will be entirely unfit for use.

To Keep Milk Sweet—Put into a cupful of milk a spoonful of grated horse-radish, it will keep it sweet for days.

BY MARY MARSHALL.
WHEN you're not lookish and are no judge of pictures, and don't know one sort of porcelain from another, but do like to buy pretty clothes and accessories and really are some judge of such ware—then why, in the name of all good Spuds, don't you buy pretty wearables for the women on your Christmas list? At any rate, you can do much toward filling your Christmas pack in this way. But don't be too utilitarian. Don't fill in your Christmas list in this wise:—
Grandmother—Red flannel jacket.
Moth-in-law—Crocheted felt bedroom slippers.
Sister Sue—Blanket bath robe.
Cousin Jane—Spigatow apron.
Aunt Mary—Outing flannel night gowns.
Grandmother would probably much prefer a fur-trimmed velvet breakfast jacket; mother would doubtless appreciate a pair of gold-trimmed, high heeled red leather mules; sister Sue craves a gear gette negligee; Cousin Jane is in dire need of a pair of printed silk smoking pajamas, and Aunt Mary has written Santa begging for a Spanish shawl.
So don't make your Christmas collection look like the contents of a missionary box for Alaska. Show your real Christmas spirit by getting the gay little things to wear that you would like to receive your self.

School Children Need No Longer Be Subject to the Affliction of Coffer
Just about a year ago at the annual meeting of the Michigan State Medical Society a discussion was held regarding the prevalence of Coffer in that state and the best means of preventing it. Subsequently a report was submitted by the committee appointed, suggesting that every family should use table salt containing iodine. It was pointed out that this would be the simplest and most effective method of supplying everyone with iodine, which is absolutely essential to the thyroid gland. Where there is a deficiency of iodine in the plant life or water supply, health surveys have proved that Coffer exists to an alarming extent. In some counties in Michigan it was found that as high as 64% of the school children had Coffer. Similar conditions exist in West Virginia, Kentucky, Ohio and other inland regions. At the request of health authorities table salt is now being produced which contains the required amount of iodine. MULKEY'S is the original Iodine Salt to be distributed through the grocery trade and arrangements have now been made so that it can be obtained at water supply, health surveys

School Notes

People should not forget the big high school carnival Friday evening at 7:30. A slight charge of a few cents will be made for entrance into the booths.

The negro minstrel, and "Oh Doctor" will be given in the study halls on the second floor. Stages have been built in both rooms. There will be plenty of room this year and the public will not be crowded as they have been in the past. Don't forget the place, the time and the hour!

Home made candy will be sold, the best you have ever tasted. Come prepared to buy!

It will be possible to secure some wonderful bargains by fishing in the pond. If you have been wondering about what to give that cranky cousin for Christmas, come and draw a surprise for her and perhaps for yourself. The High School Carnival at the high school building, Friday, at 7:30 P. M.

Englishman Clings To The Bicycle

LONDON, (AP)—The automobile has not yet replaced bicycles in Great Britain, not by a long shot. There are 6,000,000 of the latter in use in this country, and less than 1,000,000 motor cars. Motor-cycles, which are much more popular than in the United States, number 600,000.

The ministry of transport, in making public these statistics, noted that the British are doing a greater export business with bicycles and motor cycles than the American manufacturers, who once led the British in this trade.

In 1922, according to British records, Great Britain exported 7,270 motor cycles while America was sending out 16,000. But the latest figures show 20,000 machines exported from Great Britain and only 9,700 from the United States.

Major E. S. Helburn And Judge Bethurum Are Speakers.

LAUD REMEDIES

Judge Bethurum Advised The Club That Prof. Southern Would Establish School Here If Encouraged.

The Kiwanis Club was entertained on its regular Thursday meeting by Judge Bethurum and Major E. S. Helburn. Both of the gentlemen addressed the club upon the subject of the organization of the Anderson Indian Remedies company and praised the remedies which this company proposes to offer to the public when the organization begins business.

Major E. S. Helburn said that the asthma cure which he took has afforded him wonderful relief and that from the best information he can obtain, all the remedies offered by this company (which are the remedies used by the famous herbist, Dr. J. S. Anderson, late of Kingston, Tennessee and Somerset, Ky.) are first class.

Both speakers lauded Middlesboro as the city most likely to get the manufacturing plant, and said that they wanted to pull for this city whether the people here bought the stock and securities or not. They gave it as their opinion that this company could be a huge success and said that if any of our people wanted to "kick in" and take stock and become part of the company they would be heartily received and assured them that the money subscribed would be carefully and intelligently invested and safe guarded and that everything indicated that the investment would prove most profitable.

They say that the company will have in and a part of the organization the former secretary of the Dr. Anderson who is a native of Mercer county and a former teacher of that county. She has transferred to the company all of the formulas used by Dr. Anderson in his remarkable career as an herbist and is willing to go with this company as an evidence of her faith in the remedies and their superior worth.

Judge Bethurum also advised the club that Southern Brothers of Lexington, Ky., would start a business college here if the club would invite them. Professor Southern is a reliable gentleman and business school manager and is full able financially to establish this school without any financial assistance on the part of this city. This school would be a great asset to Middlesboro and the club took favorable action in this matter.

The speakers stated that Mr. G. P. Isaacs of the Taylor-Isaacs Drug Company, Louisville, had assured them that all of his chain of drug stores would be glad to put these remedies before the public, and stress them as leaders, and further assured them that with the proper advertising man and a competent manager, the company would be a success. They said that a competent advertising agent and a manager who knows all about the medicine business, and who is reliable, competent and trustworthy, would be selected.

Six oil wells caught fire near Los Angeles and resembled a movie star defending his art.
